Mr. Huse of Montpelier delivers the address here Decoration day in the afternoon. The band will furnish music for the occasion.
Geo. O. Spaulding, a resident of this town for several years, was drowned in Lake Champlain by the swamping of a fishing boat some days since. Three of them were out on Sunday on the lake and lost their lives. Their bodies have not yet been recovered.
Mrs. Mary A. Sherburne from Chicago is in town on a visit, after an absence of thirteen years. She sees great changes on account of deaths and removals, but finds old Vermont scenery about as of yore. Mrs. Sherburne desires to procure an old school book, "Tower's Grammar," which was used in this vicinity thirty years ago, and will pay a reasonable sum for the book. Send the book to the Glover post-office.
Some of the teachers of Glover met at the Institute, May 26, for the purpose of organizing a Teachers' Association. An executive committee was appointed who brought in the following program for the next meeting: Best Methods of Teaching Reading; as assigned to Miss Lang and Miss Rose Sherburne; "How to Make Spelling Interesting in the Grammar Grades" was assigned to Miss Partidge. Adjourned to meet at the same place, Saturday, June 2, at 2 o'clock. All who are interested in education are invited to attend.

Woman's Christian Temperance Union held their annual convention at Irasburgh, May 24-25, in the church. Thursday forenoon was a prayer and praise service by Mrs. Skinner of Barton. Landmarks of the last convention and addresses were given by Mrs. Austin and Phelps. They cordially welcomed the convention and expressed themselves as being full sympathy with the work. Forenoon was given up to the entertainments of the different departments. Mrs. Moodie presented a religious meeting and conducted a singing meeting; Mrs. Nye the department of L. T. L. There was some fun on this work in which Mrs. Ware and Mrs. Hopkinson participated. One way in which to get interested in this important work is to bring it before them at meetings. Through the efforts of every state and territory there has been temperance instruction in the schools. Mrs. Niles told of the children and urged all Unions to take their Loyal Legioners to the L. T. L. Convention to be held in Coventry the last of June. An excellent article on tobacco was read, and it was voted to have the same printed in leaflet form for distribution. In the discussion upon Fair Work, Mrs. Read thought the ladies could have a mother's tent, if nothing more, and some hints were given as to how such a tent should be conducted. The evening service was very interesting. Among the good things was a very excellent original poem by Rev. F. B. Phelps. Miss Leavitt gave an address, with the use of charts, on the "Effect of Narcotics on the Body." Friday was mostly given up to business and the different Unions of the county, all of which were represented. Several excellent essays were read. Miss Nelson gave a bible reading in the morning and a beautiful talk on these words, "They shall walk with me in white." She spoke of the badge as being the emblem of purity, and said that our lives and hearts should correspond with it in whiteness, and so drive out the blackness and darkness of this world. A memorial service was held, in which loving tribute was given Mrs. Vance and Mrs. Bickford. In the evening came the gold medal contest. Six contestants took part. They all did so well that each one was promised a prize. Miss Mary Paddock of Craftsbury won the medal. After the speaking Mrs. Read gave an address on the work of the W. C. T. U. The meetings were well attended, the people well entertained, and all agree that the convention was one of the best ever held in the county.

L. B. Harris delivers the address before the Post Memorial Day.
Mrs. Ella Tenney represents the Good Templars of the State in the International congress in New York in June. A high compliment.
Fred Chebot, injured by being thrown from a carriage at Lyndon Corner, died on the 20th inst. He leaves a wife and seven young children.
We call attention to the ad of the fifth annual Stallion Parade which takes place Wednesday, June 6. Entries are already more promising than last year, when the exhibition was so fine. Everything points to a most successful exhibition. The Lyndon Institute field day of sports will be held there on that day and will afford the crowd great amusement. The grand parade will be led by the Lyndonville Silver Cornet band, which will furnish music.
East Hardwick.
Mrs. Nellie Farrington is still feeble.
Mr. Hunt of Waterbury was in town last week.
John Hall, who went to Montreal, gets no encouragement from physicians there.
Harvey Bean, who was injured by the train at Hardwick, is still living with little hopes of his recovery.
Mrs. L. D. Leavitt died the 20th. The burial was at South Walden, Tuesday. She was a sister to J. L. Edwards of Newport. She had lived to an advanced age.
